Located in the north-east of Italy, Venice is known 1 "The Floating City". It is made up of over 100 small islands, 2 are connected by waterways and bridges. Unfortunately, water is also putting Venice in great 3 (dangerous). Saltwater is 4 (slow) damaging the bases of Venice's buildings. The Floating City is, in fact, sinking.

More problems 5 (cause) by floods, which usually hit the city each winter. But these floods could now be a thing of the past thanks to a new flood prevention project. 6 (lie) in the middle of a lagoon, Venice was often hit by seawater caused by rain and strong winds every year, which travels through the 7 (nature) gaps to Venice. Dozens of gates have been built to hold back the sea until now. Each of these gates is 20 meters wide, with 8 longest about 30 meters long. In the event of a big rise in the water level, the gates will be raised to separate the city from the sea.

But only time will tell whether this project is the right solution. The important thing is that action is being taken 9 (protect) this unique city for future 10 (generation). And if it works, it means a longer, drier future for Venice.

二.阅读下面材料, 根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段, 使之构成一篇完整的短文。

"It was very cold, a poor boy was selling goods door to door. He tried to earn money to pay his way through school. Wandering on the street, he was not a successful seller. What's worse, he found that he only had one dime (一角硬币) left. His empty stomach reminded him constantly that for days he hadn't eaten anything. He had no choice but to beg for a meal at the next house.

Hesitantly he knocked at door, thinking about what to say when it opened. However, he lost his nerve when a lovely young woman opened the door. "What can I do for you?" asked the young woman. The boy paused for a while "Would you please give me some... a drink of water?" the boy dare not to look directly into her eyes. She looked at the bony boy and thought he might need something to give himself energy so she brought him a glass of milk. His head rising and small hands taking the cup, he drank it up slowly, and then asked, "How much do I owe you?" "You don't owe me anything," she replied with a warm smile on her face. "My mother has taught me never to accept pay for a kindness." Deeply moved, he said sincerely, "Then I shall thank you from the bottom of my heart."

As Howard Kelly left that house, he not only felt stronger physically, but it also increased his faith in God and the whole human race. As a matter of fact, he was about to give up and quit before that point.

Many years passed, the young woman suffered from severe illness. However, the local doctors were unable to give the effective medical treatment. Finally they sent her to a hospital in the big city, where specialists can be called in to cure her rare disease. Among those famous specialists, Dr. Howard Kelly was called in for the consultation. When he heard the name of the town she came from, a strange light filled his eyes, Immediately, he rose and went down through the hospital hall into her room.
